Grayling High Conservation Club Deer Herd Study Is Lauded

Letters from I. H. Bartlett deer investigator for the Michigan conservation department, Wilbur Bull of the Education Division and D. Y. McBeath, Regional Game Supervisor to Wesley Kumpula, instructor of the Grayling High School Conservation Club, lauded the comprehensive deer herd study completed by the class last year.

The letter from Deer Investigator Bartlett said, in part, "I want to compliment you on your work in sponsoring such a successful project. For a high school group the study was excellent. Through studies such as this young folks will be better able to understand what really happen to our wildlife."

Game Supervisor McBeath's letter said, "Reading the report evoked considerable interest and pleasure on my part. The thoroughness and coverage given the subject produced a thesis of the same caliber, most usually, applied to the supposedly more important economic phases of the community. The effort (field trips, research canvassing, the deer hunting industry) put into the report was considerable, insofar as it was an extra-curricular activity. The authors are to be commended for their serious attitude. I hope this report is a forerunner of the things to come in conservation education."

Education Division's Bull's letter said, in part, "After reading the first few pages, I realized that the report would be of interest to the Game Division, and also wanted my Supervisor to see it, who in turn referred it to I. H. Bartlett. It is felt that more of this type of thing is needed in the schools. I am very glad that you favored me with the two copies and I heartily congratulate you on the work of the club and say 'All power to you' for more of this type of project."

Members of the club who participated in writing the report and gathering the facts which went into it were Beatrice Quinn, Cora Ann LaGrow, Jean Lovely, Helen Stephan, Luellen Watkins, Robert Niederer, James McClain, Warren Hatfield, Floyd Horning, Elwyn Kruse, James Burch, Jerry Barber, Ronald Larson, Delbert Joslyn, John Stephan and Derek McEvers.

The study began with a comprehensive history of deer covering the entire world and the different species found in different countries. It then discussed at further length the history of the Michigan whitetail deer. It also discussed both summer and winter deer food and the present status of the Michigan deer herd. Two field trips, one in November, the other in March, were described, followed by statistics of arrests concerning deer in Crawford County for the year, the disposition of illegally killed deer and accidents pertaining to deer hunting.

The next section was given over to a study of the change in business in Grayling during the deer season. From 20 business places in Grayling, the students found that November business showed a gain of better than 30 per cent over October and that the average hunter spent $5.58 in all each day for room and board. From 1949 to 1950, the same places showed an increase, the study pointed out.

The next section took up the rather new, from the point of increased hunters, bow hunting season. It covered the increase in hunters, the increase in kill and other state laws and license fees as compared to Michigan.

The report ends with a comprehensive deer hunting statistical table from 1934 through 1950 as to the number of hunters and kill in Michigan and Wisconsin during archery season.

COUNTY NEWS

Among the lucky bow and arrow hunters at Frederic is Walter S. Cameron from Rochester, Michigan, getting his deer the first day of the season, about 5:30 P. M., just outside of town. Walter is on vacation visiting his sisters, Mrs. Warren Horner and Mrs. Croseleys families, but he is disappointed on getting his deer so soon. This is his third year of hunting and his first kill. Walter will be remembered by Frederic residents as operating a barber shop here several years ago.

Barstow Cross, a bow and arrow hunter tells of his unlucky experience, a nice shot, the arrow going through the deer and it still kept on going.

Many reservations are being made for the rifle hunting season. Earl Johnson who operates a garage south of Frederic motored to Detroit Friday. His wife joined him there Saturday. While there they purchased a new Ford, driving it home Monday. Earl and Ferris and Roger Parsons from Rogers City are visiting friends in Frederic.

Excitement ran high for a couple of Frederic residents during the early Sunday morning hours, while taking his wife for a ride, all at once drives to the side of the pavement and parks. At first thought, Abbie wondered why the parking, but soon discovered the reason, a big black bear was crossing just ahead of them at the first curve south of Frederic. After watching the bear several minutes they just started on and a nice buck deer crossed ahead of them. Anyhow they declare this a nice ride and hope, it happens more often.

We were all very sorry to hear of the death of Henry Bowers, well known by all Frederic residents. He lived alone in a cabin a short distance from town and his death was discovered by Alan Leng Wednesday morning. The funeral was held at Grayling, and the body laid to rest in Frederic cemetery.

Soviet Mildness?

The most puzzling aspect of the San Francisco meeting at which the Japanese peace treaty was ratified by 48 nations was the relative mildness with which the Soviet spokesman, Andrei Gromyko, made his protests. Mr. Gromyko is an able parliamentarian and on many an occasion in the past has shown a rare talent for throwing monkey wrenches into the wheels of progress. When he and his large delegation arrived at the conference it was almost universally expected that a first class display of fireworks would follow. But Mr. Gromyko's attitude was calm and academic, by comparison with past performances. He made his objections—all of which were based on the thesis that the treaty was designed by the West as a prelude to World War III—in the manner of a man who was just going through the motions. The other Iron Curtain delegates echoed the boss in the dull-est possible fashion.

Various reasons are given to account for this. First of all, the meeting was extra-ordinarily well organized—even Mr. Acheson's bitterest critics have praised the job he did as chairman. He and his assistants didn't give the Russians an inch, and they were obviously ready to deal firmly and toughly with whatever might transpire. Secondly, the Russians knew that they had no chance at all to stop the ratification and so, perhaps, Mr. Gromyko appeared just for the sake of the record. A third speculation is potentially the most important, and only time can tell whether it is right or wrong. It is that the Russians have decided that there is no future in diplomatic negotiations, inasmuch as they are sure to be overwhelmingly outvoted at any international parley, that in the future they will ignore such negotiations, and that they will follow a policy of direct action whenever they feel it may be profitable. This, of course, could greatly increase the risk of global war—if the Russians want to take that terrible chance.

How does it feel to drive a Buick?

If you think perhaps we're hinting that it would be a good idea for you to try out a Buick—mister, you've never been so right.

It does a lot of things for you and to you that will be something new in your driving experience.

Take the way it feels beneath your hands on the wheel—eager and willing and anxious to please.

It spurts when you want to spurt—rolls with effortless momentum when you want to cruise.

When you take a curve, it snugs down to the road with sure-footed confidence.

After you make a turn, the front wheels instinctively seek a straight course. This car seems to guide itself.

When you come to a bumpy stretch, each separate wheel on its own coil spring steps you smoothly along on a level keel.

Then there's power that surges into action at a nudge of your toe—sends your speedometer needle soaring up to any speed the law allows, in a matter of seconds.

And there is also thrift—the gas-saving thrift that comes from a high-compression valve-in-head Fireball Engine found in no other car.

To top all this, there is Dynaflo Drive*—that feeds power in a steady, falterless flow—lets you ride relaxed in busy traffic or on a day-long cross-country drive.

We're willing to stand on the statement that no other car rides, performs or drives like a Buick.

But why take our word for it? Come in—take over one of these lively lovelies—and see for yourself.

NO OTHER CAR PROVIDES ALL THIS:

How New State Ferry Will Look

The above picture made from a drawing by Artist Phil Troeger, shows how the new Michigan State ferry, the ice-breaker Vacationland, will look when completed. The big ship, which will be one of the most powerful crafts ever built for its size, is now under construction at the Great Lakes Engineering Works at River Rouge, Michigan.
Highway Commissioner Charles M. Ziegler has announced the vessel is expected to go in service across the Straits of Mackinac in time to handle part of the annual deer hunter traffic just ahead of the opening of the deer hunting season, November 15. The Vacationland will handle winter traffic across the Straits and will augment the present four State Ferries at other seasons of the year. It will be powered by four huge Diesel engines and will be 360 feet long and 78 1/2 feet wide. It will load and unload at either end, which will cut some 20 minutes per round trip off the time of the four state boats now in service at the Straits. The Vacationland will handle some 150 vehicles and 650 passengers per trip. It will cost approximately $4,500,000. A new State Ferry dock is being built at St. Ignace and a new slip for the Vacationland at the Mackinaw City docks.

ALL-AMERICAN

$7.50

It's easy to see why the Lee All-American is preferred by so many American men. Of fine lightweight felt, and featuring Lee's exclusive inner cushion leather band, it's downright comfortable the whole year 'round. Then, too, it's Lee-shaped, pre-shaped by skilled Lee craftsmen . . . to keep its fashion-creased lines for life. Choose your Lee All-American from either the long oval or regular shape. Come in and see us today!

Don't take less than the best—don't take less than a LEE!
